Kennedy Knows Stand On Rights Costs Dixie Votes

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy says he knows he is not the most popular political figure in the South because of his civil rights stand.

Kennedy said in a nationwide filmed television interview Monday night he lost some Southern states in 1960 and may lose more in the 1964 presidential election. And he suggested that his position also may have cost him support in the North.

The President said his civil rights stand "has caused a good deal of feeling, I suppose, against the administration in the South—also, I suppose, in other parts of the country."

"I am not sure that I am the most popular political figure in the South but that is all right," he said.

NBC Next Week

The President was interviewed by Walter Cronkite of the Columbia Broadcasting System for the inauguration of a half-hour "CBS Evening News" program.

Kennedy will grant a similar interview to the National Broadcasting Co. next Monday night.

Kennedy planned to return to Washington today after a Labor Day weekend that started last Thursday at the summer White House on Cape Cod.

Earlier, the White House had indicated Kennedy might remain at Hyannis Port until Wednesday. A new school desegregation crisis in Alabama apparently was a factor in his return today.

Important Issue

The President said in the television interview that the civil rights situation obviously will be an important issue in the next election but he hopes both Republicans and Democrats will commit themselves "to the same objective of equality of opportunity."

The President touched on a number of other subjects, including:

THE ECONOMY: He said there is "no magic solution" to unemployment, but an $11-billion tax cut and other programs he has proposed would help prevent an increase in the unemployment rate.

TEST BAN: It would be most desirable if the limited nuclear test ban treaty gets strong support from the Senate. And "if the treaty is not substantial enough to stand discussion and debate, then of course it isn't a very good treaty."

Intellectual Defects

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Prof. Hans Mayer, East German national prize winner and one of the most prominent Soviet bloc "liberal" intellectuals, has defected to West Germany.

Here on a lecture tour, Mayer announced Monday night he will return to Leipzig University where he has taught literature for 15 years and gained an international reputation.

Violence Over, Says Folcroft

FOLCROFT, Pa. (AP)—A group of Folcroft residents says there will be no more violence against a Negro family that moved into a white neighborhood but it will use "passive resistance by demonstrations and boycotts of any business which serve or deal" with the family.

The statement was issued Monday after about 1,000 men met for nearly two hours at the Folcroft Swim Club.

The statement deplored the mob violence that greeted Horace and Sarah Baker, who moved into the Delmar development under state police guard Friday night. A mob had blocked the move Thursday.

The statement, which was not signed, emphasized that the Baker family is not welcome in this suburb of Philadelphia but said "the state troopers may leave and the violence will not return."

State police kept the area under tight security and Folcroft borough Mayor Hugh McVicker ordered that no passes be issued to nonresidents Monday.

The Bakers, with the help of friends, spent Labor Day repairing their row house. Windows were broken and the lawn was littered with rocks, eggs and vegetables by the mob.

Russia Backs China

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet Union told Communist China today there was no need for it to try to manufacture an atom bomb because if attacked it could count on Russian nuclear might under the friendship and mutual assistance treaty.

In a Japanese-language broadcast, Moscow Radio reiterated that despite Chinese-Soviet differences, the treaty remains in effect.

Holiday Traffic Kills Over 540

By The Associated Press
The nation's traffic accidents during the long Labor Day weekend claimed a record toll of deaths for the holiday, soaring far past the previous high of 501.

The count at midnight (local time) Monday, the end of the 78-hour holiday period, showed 545 traffic deaths, topping the previous record set during the Labor Day weekend last year. Belated reports were expected to boost the final total.

The slaughter on the highways during the holiday was marked by several multiple-fatal accidents, including six in Michigan. The worst accident occurred Monday when 10 persons lost their lives near Dayton, in southeast Texas.

The Labor Day holiday traffic total marked the third record toll for this year's three major spring and summer holidays. The 159 persons killed on Memorial Day was the highest for a one-day holiday. During the four-day Independence Day holiday, 557 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents, a record for a four-day holiday of July weekend.

In addition to the traffic deaths during the Labor Day holiday, 20 persons lost their lives in boating accidents and 46 others drowned. The over-all accident death toll was 609.

'Bama Governor Defies Federal School Orders

President Calls For Ouster Of Diem's Brother

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Diplomatic Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's public crackdown on the U.S.-supported government of South Viet Nam is aimed primarily at forcing the removal from power of the brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

If President Diem is unwilling or unable to remove quickly his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, U.S. officials indicated today the Kennedy administration will feel compelled to consider other measures.

These measures, it is understood, will include a review of the U.S. aid program with possible cutbacks to follow.

Kennedy told a nationwide CBS Television audience in an interview from Hyannis Port, Mass., Monday night that the war against Communist forces in Viet Nam could not be won unless the Diem government makes "a greater effort" to win popular support.

He said that changes in policy "and perhaps in personnel" are needed to produce victory in the struggle in which Viet Nam and the United States are partners.

For Continuing Aid
The President, however, carefully refrained from advocating any specific plan of action for the Vietnamese.

If Kennedy's warning is taken by dissatisfied elements in Saigon as a bid for revolt against the Diem government it would be no great surprise here.

However, officials said, the problem would be much simpler if Diem would handle the situation himself.

Kennedy's outspoken criticism was coupled with an assertion that it would be "a great mistake" to halt military assistance to Viet Nam.

U.S. aid to the small Southeast Asian country is running at the rate of $500 million a year. The total during the past decade is near $3 billion.

While Kennedy ruled out an end to military assistance, officials said there are various actions short of a U.S. decision to abandon South Viet Nam which could be taken and which if the situation gets worse will have to be considered.

Await Action
For the moment the administration policy makers anxiously awaited Saigon's reaction to Kennedy's blast. The President's words were aimed primarily at South Vietnamese leaders, including not only President Diem but also his brother Nhu and the generals who compose the military high command.

Up to the end of last week, the President's advisers had counted on popular antagonism in South Viet Nam, spearheaded by dissident Buddhist monks, to produce pressures which would lead to Nhu's withdrawal from his strongman role in Diem's regime.

At the end of the week Nhu was still firmly in power, and the Buddhist movement against the government, and the supporting student demonstrations, had been crushed through widespread arrests of students, monks and nuns.

U.S. dissatisfaction with the government was dramatically demonstrated by the granting of asylum to monks who sought refuge in the U.S. embassy in Saigon.

Loses Public Touch
With their hopes dashed for a government shakeup or overthrow perhaps led by the army high command, U.S. officials turned to other means of trying to force what they consider vital reforms in Saigon.

As Kennedy put it, the Diem government "has gotten out of touch with the people" and is therefore unable to provide the effective political leadership necessary to win the struggle with the Communists.

The President said he hopes that the logic of his argument "will become increasingly evident" and backed up his call for change with this warning: "I do not think that unless a greater effort is made by the government to win popular support that the war can be won out there."

Presidential advisers have been saying for a week or more that Nhu, who is an unpopular figure in his country, is "intolerable" and will have to go if the government is to establish any kind of new popular base.

Three Objectives For Legislature In Fall Session

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney today issued his official call to the legislature for a special session beginning Sept. 11 to deal with three subjects—legislative reapportionment, fiscal reform and implementation of the new constitution.

Romney, back in his office for the first time since returning from a 10-day vacation in Europe, announced he will present these subjects to lawmakers in a series of special messages.

Proposed new laws to implement the new constitution, he said, will not be taken up until the legislature has finished with reapportionment and "substantially completed" fiscal and tax reform.

The fiscal program, Romney said, will be submitted as specific proposals in bill form.

The special call was being mailed out today to the state's 144 legislators.

The text of the call said the legislature will be called into session Sept. 11 "for the purpose of considering certain subjects to be submitted by special messages."

It appeared Romney's strategy was to maintain a close personal grip on subject matter, while at the same time allowing himself some flexibility if other issues should arise later.

Romney said details of his program on fiscal overhaul are nearly complete. He termed it "a fundamental program" keyed to revision of the state's fiscal and tax structure without tax increases.

Although there have been some minor changes in detail, he said, the primary objects still are tax relief for business and low income groups, local option and adequate provisions for schools and other local units of government.

The governor said he has not yet decided on the extent to which lawmakers will be restricted in introducing bills on tax reform.

"The legislature should have the right to express its own views with respect to the proposals that are made," he said.

Hope To Rescue Bova Abandoned

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—David Fellin and Henry Throne return home today after a week in a hospital recuperating from 14 days entombment in a mine cave-in. But fellow miner Louis Bova remains lost and the state virtually has abandoned hope of finding him alive.

Fellin, 58, and Throne, 28, said through a spokesman they were gripped by the failure to find "our buddy."

State authorities, after drilling 15 futile shafts and sending down a man, were exploring three different routes to reach Bova, 54, entombed more than 300 feet underground—the coal mine caved in Aug. 13. Bova, reportedly injured, was separated from Fellin and Throne by debris.

They do not plan to send another man down an escape shaft drilled Sunday because it is unsafe.

H. Beecher Charnbury, state secretary of mines, said Monday night, "It would take a minimum of 120 days to reach Bova, regardless of the method used."

"It's all over as far as a rescue is concerned," said Charnbury's deputy, Gordon Smith.

A brother of Bova, Dan, said: "Well, I can only say this. If he was still alive, by the time they reach him it will be too late."

A sister-in-law, Marie Bova, said the miner's father, Joseph Bova, hadn't been told that the state has virtually abandoned hope.

Eut, she added: "He (the father) is of the opinion that it seems impossible he could be living after all these days."

Marie quoted Bova's wife, Eva, as saying she is not going to give up hope—"She still hopes for a miracle."

The Fellins plan to go away to an undisclosed vacation retreat over the weekend.

Throne hadn't made any plans except that he'll go back to work in the tavern owned by his wife.

Sault Air Base Bank Is Looted

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—A Branch Bank on Kinchloe Air Force Base near here was broken into and $31,000 stolen during the weekend.

The robbery at the branch of the First National Bank of the Soo was discovered Sunday morning.

Police said entrance was gained by use of bolt cutters.

An Airman on KP duty said he saw four men around the bank early yesterday, but no arrests have been made.

Khrushchev and Tito had a warm leave taking at Belgrade's airport.

State Troopers Bar Teachers At Tuskegee Hi

By RED THOMAS
TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George Wallace, risking federal retaliation, kept the Tuskegee Public School closed by force today despite the local school board's reluctant willingness to obey a federal court desegregation order.

Helmeted state troopers, redoubled in strength and supported for the first time by mounted sheriff's deputies, kept students and teachers out of the school to enforce the governor's orders to postpone the start of the fall term until next Monday.

Students in the consolidated elementary-high school were turned back as they approached the building for the second straight day, even though the Macon County Board of Education said that as far as it was concerned the school was open.

Thus the 12-grade school was ready for the return of pupils from the summer vacation, but the 215 armed state troopers surrounding the building refused to let them in.

Admit Principal
Col. Al Lingo, commanding the troopers, said only Principal E.W. Wadsworth would be admitted to the building.

Even teachers were turned away because, Lingo said, "school is closed and they have no business in there."

Wallace issued a strongly-worded executive order directing the school board to postpone the start of fall classes in the one school Monday because of what he called the threat of violence.

The previous white Tuskegee school was the only one in Macon County ordered desegregated at this time and the only one affected by Wallace's order.

The mounted sheriff's deputies came here from Dallas County under the command of Sheriff Jim Clark. The trained horsemen have been used previously to keep order during racial demonstrations in other cities.

There was no indication of federal intervention.

Dispute Local
A Justice Department spokesman said Monday that "the dispute is between Gov. Wallace and the local school officials."

Wallace intervened Monday two hours before 13 Negroes were to enter the white public school. It would have been the first desegregation in Alabama schools below college level and it would have left Mississippi as the only state with a completely segregated public school system.

The Alabama chief executive, an ardent segregationist, invoked his police powers in an executive order in which he said there was reasonable cause to fear "breaches of the peace by force and violence...which cannot be speedily suppressed or effectively prevented by law enforcement agencies."

The governor sent 108 armed and riot-trained patrolmen to circle the school and enforce a strongly worded executive order which postponed the opening of school for one week.

However, the Macon County School Board, under federal court order to integrate its schools this year, defied Wallace's order and said in a statement, "The members of the board determined their primary duty is to operate the schools of Macon County. Therefore, all schools of Macon County are open as originally scheduled by the board."

The possibility of federal intervention was strengthened by the presence of John Doar, deputy director of the Justice Department's civil rights division. Doar conferred for several hours with members of the board but declined to say what the Justice Department planned.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy cut short a holiday to return to work when he re-

Integration Quiet

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Public schools were integrated quietly here today as 14 Negro pupils took their places in class in two formerly white high schools.

Originally, 20 had been accepted but only seven Negroes were admitted at Savannah High School, where 13 had registered earlier.

Roni And Mother Share Bridge Hike With Soapy

By A.F. MAHAN

ST. IGNACE (AP)—You may have slept in Labor Day, but some 6,000 got up to take a walk—of 4½ miles and on a cool, misty morning.

It was through scenery viewed on every other day only from a car. It was from Michigan's Lower Peninsula to its Upper Peninsula—across the Mackinac Bridge, a gigantic beauty suspended high above the blue straits from which it is named.

For the walk, both north and south automobile traffic was shifted to what normally are the south-bound lanes of the four-lane span. For a time this caused a traffic jam, among vacationers headed home downstate. By 1 p.m. 3,539 vehicles had cleared southbound compared with only 925 north-bound.

G. Mennen Williams, a green polka-dot tie twisted askew by the wind, made the walk Monday as Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs. He made the same jaunt six years ago, then as governor and in the first Labor Day walk sponsored by the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

With him Monday were his wife,

Letter Carriers Plan Two-Day Conference Here

Members of the Upper Peninsula Letter Carriers Association will hold a two-day convention in Escanaba on Saturday and Sunday of this week with headquarters at the Sherman Hotel, according to Glenn Matheson of Escanaba, chairman.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. on Saturday. The Post Office Department will be represented by Robert Rosenthal of the Chicago Region delivery services.

Also attending will be: Edward F. Benning, Springfield, Ill., member of executive board of National Association of Letter Carriers and regional director of the Michigan and Illinois District; Austin B. Carlson of Minneapolis, NALC executive board member and director of the Minneapolis region; Dorr Cameron of Battle Creek, president of the Michigan Association; William Carroll of Grand Rapids, vice-president; and Ralph Pizzuto of Dearborn, secretary.

The first mishap occurred at 1:40 a.m. Sunday at the intersection of County Roads 521 and 553, a half-mile north of Hyde.

Officers said that a car driven by William J. Taylor Jr., 25, of Cornell, was traveling east on County Road 521 at a high rate of speed, skidded through the intersection and struck an embankment. The car continued on and ran through a fence.

Taylor suffered cuts and bruises and was taken to St. Francis Hospital where he was treated and released. He was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law.

William A. Butler Jr., 22, of 923 6th Ave. S., was hospitalized with a broken right arm, following an accident at 3 a.m. Sunday on M-35, 11 miles south of Escanaba.

Sheriff's officers said Butler was headed south on M-35 when the car drove diagonally across the left side of the highway and went into the ditch. Butler told officers he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He is still a patient at St. Francis.

No tickets were issued, however the case is still under investigation.

Rain Postpones Labor Program

The Labor Day parade was held Monday morning despite the threat of rain, but the afternoon downpour caused postponement of the afternoon program to Sunday, Sept. 8, at Pioneer Trail Park.

Vernon Whitney, president of the Delta County Trades & Labor Council, sponsor of the event, said the program would begin at noon next Sunday. The speaker will be Richard Rinehart, president of Ray de Noe Community College, and games and other events are scheduled.

The parade in the morning saw a number of marching units and two bands, plus some decorated vehicles. The Escanaba City Band and the Escanaba Area High School Band participated. Herb Johnson was parade chairman.

Arnold Burkum, Trades & Labor Council secretary, said determination of parade winners has yet to be made but winning vehicles will include the Montgomery Ward Retail Clerks, the Harnischfeger Corp. P&H crane, and the Safety Patrol.

There were several soap box derby cars entered by boys and three of these won awards, but the winners are known only the colors of the cars — brown, red and blue. Boys who are owners of those cars are to report to Burkum at the Montgomery Ward Store.

Lower Peninsula Tip Counts Best Summer Business

By A. F. MAHAN
MACKINAW CITY (AP)—Down-staters, those neighbors who've been missing all summer or the last two weeks, are on the way home. And northern Lower Michigan's vacation land is not too sad to see them go.

Now the natives will have a chance to count the summer loot before turning to the job of readying the ski hills for weekend rompers.

A majority of towns and resorts sampled up the center of the state reported thus far 1963 had been "the best year ever." Except for a solitary sporting goods store, everyone reported this year's business ahead of last year's.

Why the boom? There is a three-prong answer: prosperity, superhighways and weather.

Except for one cool August snap, the season's weather has been wonderful.

Downstate auto plants have been humming at capacity. The production line worker and the men who supply him have enjoyed both fat and regular pay checks. What once was a seven-hour weekend trip from Detroit to Gaylord has been cut in half.
Four-lane Interstate 75 has chopped an hour to an hour and a half off the old weekday time of 4½ to five hours.

Labor Day Exodus
The big exodus from the vacation spots begins traditionally on the Labor Day weekend. This one is no exception, and there are figures to prove it.

Friday and Saturday more cars went north across the Mackinac Bridge than went south, but from midnight to 4 p.m. Sunday the count was 3,656 southbound and only 2,981 northbound.

Bridge figures, too, reflect 1963's travel gain over 1962's. For the year as a whole traffic is up, and in August there were 295,182 vehicle crossings, 38,071 more than in the same month a year ago.

In this town hard by the Straits of Mackinac there were openly expressed fears in 1957 that removal of ferries and the bypassing of the bridge would kill the village. Mackinaw City never had it so good, even in the days of the most monumental jams on the state ferry docks.

At 3 p.m. Sunday there were 625 cars crammed into the old dock parking area, virtually all of them waiting for tourists who had taken time off for a boat jaunt to Mackinac Island.

Island Hosts 400,000

Dennis O. Cawthorne, secretary-manager of the Island Chamber of Commerce, predicted a record
400,000 tourists will have visited Mackinac Island by the end of its season in mid-September. The best year heretofore was 1960, when there were 385,000 island visitors.

Downtown Mackinaw City has been expanding instead of dying since the big bridge leapfrogged across it in joining Michigan's two peninsulas.

Even more recent fears of Interstate 75 bypassing at Gaylord have proved baseless.

Robert H. Doumas, manager of Gaylord's Sugar Bowl Restaurant, reported 1963 to date the best year his establishment ever had, up at least 10 per cent over the best previous year — 1962.

A vast majority of north-south traffic that used to flow by Frederic on U.S. 27 now bypasses on I-75 Houghton Lake, an offseason, is booming.

Cottage Sales Double

Henry H. DeTray, a Houghton
Lake real estate operator for 21 years, said cottage and lake sales have doubled in the last three years. He said his goal this year is $2 million in real estate sales and that on Aug. 26 he virtually had matched 1962's total sales of $1.5 million.

Sid Sutton, assistant vice president of the Roscommon County Bank at Houghton Lake said deposits this year were up $2.5 million, and a filling station operator just off the I-75 interchange said he pumped 115,000 gallons of gasoline in July of this year, compared with 100,000 gallons in the same month a year earlier.

Harrison, bypassed further than most old U.S. 27 towns, reports traffic coming back after a short dip last year.

William Duggan, a sporting goods store and boat livery operator, said both sales and boat rentals were off, and he blamed downstate prosperity for it.

Don Shively, manager of the Dougherty Hotel at Clare, said business is much better than last year and that last year was better than average.

U. S. 23 Gains

Rogers City Motel Operators on U.S. 23 that skirts Lake Huron reported I-75 had drained considerable traffic from their highway but there now appeared to be an upturn in U.S. 23 movement.

Cheboygan Daily Tribune Publisher Myrton M. Riggs said
State sales tax collections show business in his county up six per cent through May and that casual checks indicated the gain was holding.

North of Cheboygan, where U.S.
23 and U.S. 27 used to travel the same strip of concrete, motel operators reported business off some 20 per cent. They blamed
I-75's bypassing of Cheboygan by 12 miles. The motel operators, however, said business this year had increased anywhere from three to six per cent over last year's.

Keeping Our Wilderness

The Wilderness Bill now before Congress is an example of the national effort to set aside wilderness areas so our citizens can get away from the madding throng. The wilderness concept appeals to many persons who have suffered the abrasion of modern metropolitan living; they find something healing in fleeing man and his works and living close to nature.

This has been the motivation for the Superior-Quetico Park in the Canoe Country on the Minnesota-Ontario border, and part of the charm and appeal of the Porcupine Mountains State Park in the Upper Peninsula comes from its wilderness portions.

A "wilderness area" as foresters, land managers and recreationists use the term is not a forest or uninhabited wild area, it is wilderness area which by government policy is not managed, but left in natural state except for foot and horse trails and a few primitive camp sites.

The feeling of need to set aside more wilderness areas has become urgent with some groups in America. They generally reject the proposal that forest areas should be under multiple use management, providing both recreation and wood for industry.

Eric Severeid, the commentator, wrote recently from Aspen that as America faces a future in which there's not going to be room for everyone to be expansive out-of-doors, needs to keep wilderness areas from being overrun like the parks and having their quality and reason for being destroyed. To do it Severeid would make them difficult of access. He'd ban the convertible set and make recreation seekers hike.

That would certainly help. All surveys of our outdoor recreation show that increasingly recreationists don't want to rough it much. They want the appearance of the rustic life, but they want it complete with warm water showers and other amenities of modern living and if the park manager can also fill it with people that will leave many of them a pale, pulsing pink with pleasure.

It is unfortunate that there is a widespread confusion in terms. Many persons would accept a managed forest as "wilderness." It will more nearly meet their idea of wilderness because it will have more wildlife in it than a wilderness area and it will, because of its accessibility, be able to provide recreation for more persons than a dedicated wilderness area.

The Upper Peninsula, because it has so much government forest land, (nearly 40 per cent of its area) need not for many years to come have as much concern as downstate areas about deterioration of its recreational areas. But this is a serious and growing problem which should bring governmental recreational land acquisition programs under close scrutiny.

Virginia A. Weadcock, research assistant of the New York Botanical Gardens, testified in a congressional hearing on the Sleeping Bear Dunes Lakeshore proposal that misdirected efforts to conserve some of our wilderness areas may be the means of their destruction.

"The Park Service proposal purports to preserve many interesting geological, zoological, and botanical features by putting them permanently under government control," said Miss Weadcock. "I maintain that recreation and preservation cannot be accomplished on the same spot at the same time.

"Some botanical and conservation organizations in Michigan have voted to support the bill, but I believe the only reason is that they fear the bulldozer more than the tourist. Basically I think they view the onslaught of thousands of people with less than enthusiasm. To open up a region for camping and the mass movement of visitors goes against all conservation principles.

"The National Park Service has had to admit that mass recreation is not beneficial in many of its parks; the Wilderness Act was thus established to preserve certain tracts inviolate. When mass camping comes in, wildlife and plant life go out, water becomes polluted, peace and quiet reign no more. It is impossible to adequately police the present parks, let alone the ones proposed.

"If the National Park Service wants to preserve the valuable assets of the Sleeping Bear region, the plans should be rephrased to choose the most striking habitats for natural areas, which could revert to the natural vegetation and be preserved as living examples of what our country used to look like. These currently uninhabited, undeveloped lands could be acquired for a fraction of the cost of the proposed park; scientists could obtain permits to carry out research through the years and all generations would benefit.

"The only people to benefit from the current proposal would be the concessionaires who provide tasteless services not in keeping with the surroundings."

The Doctor Says:

Football Calls For Safeguards

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Sure, your son loves to play football—but in his enthusiasm he may not take the precautions necessary to insure his health and safety. Football is a great sport, but parents and coaches must set up safeguards to reduce the hazards of this contact sport.

• First, your boy must want to play football because he likes the game. If he is forced into it for any other reason, he will either play halfheartedly or play beyond his endurance to prove his strength. Either attitude is an invitation to injury.

• Second, he must have the proper build for football. Enthusiasm or training may not be able to make a football player out of a tall, lanky boy—as many such a lad has found out to his sorrow. Furthermore, he must not only be physically healthy but also in top physical condition.

• This can be achieved only by persistent hard work all year round.

If he has a choice of getting to a destination two miles away by car or on foot, he must refuse the ride. Football is not a game for the flabby.

Since training season sometimes starts in hot weather, precautions must be taken against heat stroke. Practice should not be undertaken in the hottest hours of the day.

In any kind of weather, the training session should not bring your son to the point of exhaustion. A physician should be available at all practice sessions as well as all games.

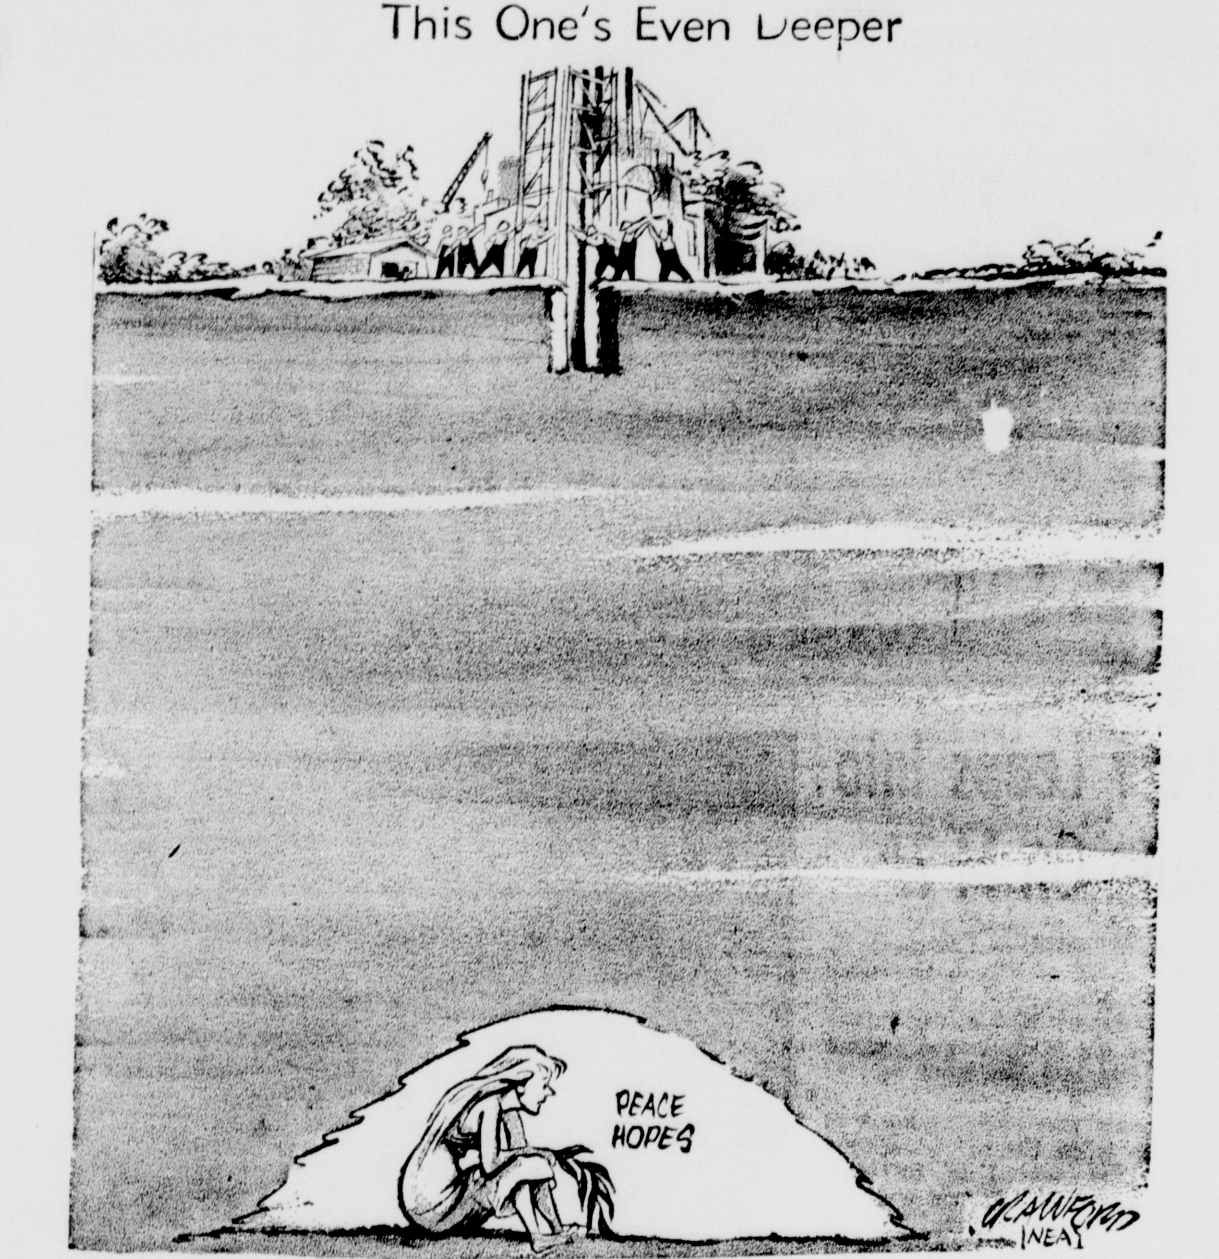

Proper equipment is important. This includes a personally fitted helmet, mouth guard, shoulder pads, arm guards, hand protector, knee and shin guards and ankle taping.

In addition to these items, it is important to see that his undergarments, socks and towels are clean. Superficial infections and ringworm can cause annoying disability and may even lead to blood poisoning.

No field house is properly equipped that does not provide your son a comfortable place to rest at half time, and no field is safe unless the goal posts are well padded.

The ground should be smooth and free from loose stones or glass. If the field is dusty, it should be sprinkled before the game to minimize the amount of dust your boy must inhale.

No boy should be allowed to play football if he has not had tetanus toxoid, because any injury that breaks the skin on a

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The President's Council on Physical Fitness has issued another one of its pamphlets intended to make you healthy. Its title: "Adult Physical Fitness—A Program for Men and Women."

Government Printing Office has published 250,000 copies of this 64-page pocket booklet—which shouldn't go very far among 130 million people. But you can get your copy if you hurry by sending 35 cents to Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., Zip Code 20402.

No author's name appears on this latest government guide to your life, but this is the program that Coach C. B. "Bud" Wilkinson of Oklahoma has been working on for a couple of years as Consultant to the President on Physical Fitness.

The only name that appears in the pamphlet is President Kennedy's.

In an introductory message he says:

"Ours is not a regimented society where men are forced to live their lives in the interest of the state. . . . But if we are to retain freedom, we must be willing to work for those physical qualities upon which the courage and intelligence and skill of man so largely depend. . . . I urge each of you to follow these recommendations. . . . The government cannot compel you to act, but freedom demands it."

In other words, this is something you can and should do for your country—get healthy.

Half of the booklet is for women, half for men, with five levels of exercise for each. It is lavishly illustrated with photos, instead of the usual diagrams and sketches.

The models are Gail Tirano of Washington, in leotards and sweater, and Marine Lance Corporal Robert E. Henerson, in tights and sweat shirt, going through all the contortions.

Both appear as though they must have been disgustingly healthy even before they began to exercise.

Henerson poses for one uncaptioned photo showing him fully dressed, looking at television. This doesn't look like exercise, but it probably shows the correct posture for sitting straight in a chair while watching television. This is the kind of exercise people won't do. He isn't eating, either.

Miss Tirano, fully dressed, poses for another uncaptioned photo showing her in front of a mirror, doctoring her eyebrows with a lot of beauty preparations.

This is also the kind of exercise that too many gals can overdo. But the text explains that you need have no fear of becoming unattractively muscled if you take real exercise.

There are some other unorthodox generalizations which may surprise you.

A heart specialist is quoted as saying, "The best insurance against coronary disease is exercise—lots of it."

You have 600 muscles. You may have been able to count every one when tired. But the booklet states chronic tiredness comes from not taking enough exercise.

Regular exercise, it says, can slow down the physical deterioration that accompanies aging. By delaying the aging process, proper exercise prolongs your life.

Even Harvard is dragged into the act as authority for the statement that "one-half hour of exercise daily can keep off or take off as much as 26 pounds a year."

In addition to the illustrated push-ups and stretches and bends and tortures you inflict on yourself in your own home, the book says you can exercise while at work:

- Don't ride elevators—bound up stairs two at a time.
- Suck in your abdomen, hold taut a few seconds.
- Instead of coffee breaks, take exercises.
- If you lack privacy for this, do "isometrics."
- Isometrics, it says is, pulling or pushing against an immovable object, such as a wall, using various muscles to perform a series of brief exercises, several times a day. Gosh!

Peninsula Men Join Department Of Instruction

Appointment of two Michigan men as Department of Public Instruction staff consultants in guidance, counseling, and testing is announced by Dr. Lynn Bartlett.

Earl Borlace, Holland Junior High School principal, and Ivan Ryan, guidance director for the Gwinn Public Schools, assume the posts Aug. 26. Both positions are set up under the National Defense Education Act.

"Michigan's increasing problems with teenage unemployment and school dropouts have placed even greater emphasis on directive services to help youngsters obtain maximum benefit from their schooling," Dr. Bartlett said. "We've been fortunate in securing two men who've had sound experience and the educational background in these services to help local schools with their programs."

Borlace was born in Negaunee, attended area schools and was graduated in 1948 from Northern Michigan University.

GLADSTONE

Woman Injured In Auto Mishap

Barbara Randall, 25, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, was hospitalized for neck injuries suffered in three-car mishap at 11:27 a.m. Sunday on County Road 426, about 250 feet south of U.S. 2-41. Her condition was reported as "good" by St. Francis Hospital today.

According to officers, cars driven by Lillian L. Randall, 43, of Rte. 1, Gladstone and by Beverly Farrell, 34, also of Rte. 1, Gladstone, were stopped for the stop sign on County Road 426 at the entrance to U.S. 2-41 when a car driven by Vernon J. Vanderlinden, 22, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, came up from behind and struck the rear of the second vehicle in the line, driven by Lillian Randall. The impact forced the Randall vehicle into the rear of the Farrell car.

Vanderlinden told officers he saw the two cars ahead of him, but didn't know they were stopped until it was too late to avoid the accident. Officers said the Vanderlinden vehicle skidded 21 feet before the point of impact.

Vanderlinden was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law, too fast for conditions.

Barbara Randall was a passenger in the car driven by Lillian Randall.

Labor, Economy Creating Boom

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (AP) — A vigorous labor movement and a free economy have extended material blessings to millions of Americans, Gov. George Romney said in his Labor Day statement.

But this should not "obscure the fact that too many of our citizens are paid substandard wages, that too many of them are still unable to find jobs, that too many of them are denied employment because of the color of their skin," he added.

"Nonetheless," he said, "on Labor Day, 1963, Michigan citizens have undeniable cause to rejoice in the great material blessings which a free economy and a vigorous labor movement have created."

All Michigan citizens, he said, owe "a great debt to labor and collective bargaining for these blessings. The heart of our economy is not money or machines but the working men and women who labor in mines, in factories, at building sites . . ."

Michigan workers are enjoying the highest level of prosperity they have experienced in years, Romney said, adding:

"The automobile industry, which is the keystone of our economy, is moving toward a record year. Factory wages are at an all-time high; unemployment is at its lowest level for this time of year since 1955, and there is every prospect that the state of the economy will remain healthy."

Rule Hypo-Arrows Illegal In State For Bow Hunters

Michigan bow hunters will have to give up any thoughts they might have about using drug-loaded arrowheads during their fall outings this season, the Conservation Department reports.

Department law enforcement officials point out that any device containing drugs or chemicals is illegal for taking game in this state. The regulation covers the use of firearms as well as bows and arrows.

The Department's reminder to sportsmen is prompted by a growing number of inquiries about a so-called "hypo arrow" which was recently publicized in a national outdoor magazine.

According to the magazine piece, this new arrowhead packs a painless punch, virtually insuring a clean kill whenever an archer hits the mark. The drug used — succinylcholine chloride — reportedly will kill a deer within about 30 seconds after it has been injected into the animal through a round, two-inch-long needle head.

World's most prolific oil and gas wells range from 5,000 to 12,000 feet deep.

State Tax Land Sales Scheduled

Tax-reverted lands in Northern Michigan appraised at $140,000 will come up for bidding next month during a series of public auctions scheduled by the Conservation Department.

The Department's minimum prices total nearly $119,000 for land units in the northern Lower Peninsula and about $21,000 for state-owned parcels in the Upper Peninsula. Revenue from these sales will go to counties in which the auctioned lands are located.

Approximately 1,200 small units will be offered at five separate sales. Most of these are platted lots.

Next month's opening sale will be held Sept. 17 in the courthouse at Houghton. Another 105 parcels in Chippewa, Delta, Dickinson, Mackinac, Menominee, and Schoolcraft counties will be offered for sale Sept. 18 in the courthouse at Iron Mountain.

Each of the sales will start at 10 a. m. E. S. T. Lists describing land units to be offered are available from county treasurers.

Burns Retires As MSMS Chief

LANSING — Retirement of William J. Burns, executive director of the Michigan Medical Society for 29 years, and appointment of Hugh W. Brenneman to succeed him were disclosed last week to the 7,000 members of the society.

Dr. O. B. McGillicuddy, of Lansing chairman of the council, also announced that Dr. Charles J. Tupper, associate dean of the University of Michigan medical school, has been named editor of the Journal of the MSMS, succeeding the late Dr. Wilfred Haughey.

Warren F. Tryloff, who has been associated with Brenneman as MSMS public relations counsel, was appointed associated executive director, succeeding Brenneman.

Herbert A. Auer, MSMS public relations field secretary, becomes managing editor of the Journal, monthly scientific and official publication of the society.

Burns, long recognized as one of the leading convention exhibit organizers in the country, will establish his own business in that field.

Brenneman, 48, graduated from Alma College and taught school and worked as a radio commentator before World War II. He served in the Navy as lieutenant aboard a destroyer during the war.

He joined the MSMS staff in 1946 as public relations counsel. He has been a major worker in organizing the Michigan Heart Association, Michigan Rural Health Council, Michigan Rural Health Conference and other health organizations.

He is executive director of the Michigan Association of the Professions.

Three Michigan Congressmen Take Roles In March

WASHINGTON — Only three of Michigan's 21 congressmen took part in Aug. 18th's massive march on Washington.

The rest said they felt it was more important to be on hand for voting on railroad strike legislation, or to keep busy at committee jobs — drafting civil rights legislation.

Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) accepted the invitation of the March on Washington Committee to sit in a specially-assigned seat at the Lincoln Memorial ceremonies. Later he entertained Michigan's marchers in a hospital room at the Washington Hotel.

Congressman — at — Large Neil Staebler (D-Ann Arbor) shook hands with Michigan visitors who gathered under a "Michigan" sign posted on the Washington Monument grounds before the march started.

Staebler participated in the march and stayed for the Lincoln Memorial ceremonies. Rep. Charles C. Diggs, Jr., (D-Detroit) joined the program, as did all other Negro congressmen from other states.

Senator Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich.) stayed in his office, waiting for visitors, but few showed up. Michigan's other lawmakers, Republicans and Democrats, had similar experiences.

If the march committee thought attendance at the Lincoln Memorial ceremonies would serve as a gauge of interest in, or support for, pending civil rights legislation, Michigan's turnout of lawmakers could throw things off base.

Suburbs Fight Detroit Taxes

LANSING (AP)—A special staff of the secretary of state's office was watching today for an armored car aimed at depriving Detroit's tax coffers of some money.

The armored car will be carrying Mayor George Kuhn of Berkeley, chairman of the Vigilance Tax Committee, and petitions which Kuhn says bear 240,000 "audited and authenticated" signatures.

The petitioners would force legislative action on a law prohibiting municipalities from levying income taxes on non-residents. Detroit has levied such a tax of one per cent since July, 1962.

The petitions also ask for a law to require an affirmative city vote before any proposed city income tax could become effective.

Kuhn has said he hopes the petitions would force consideration of the measures at the special fall session of the legislature.

Secretary of State James Hare said his understanding, however, is that the special session is limited in its scope to those issues Gov. George Romney wants the legislature to consider.

If Romney declines to open the session to the Vigilance Tax Committee's petitions, Hare said the petitions would remain on file and would be submitted to the legislature next January, at its regular session.

Byrd Cites Big Kennedy Expense

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, wondered aloud today whether President Kennedy really needs all those planes and yachts and limousines and things.

The Virginia Democrat, who yields to no Republican when it comes to advocating less federal spending, said:

"The President is a busy man, and he must be able to move and act quickly; and I certainly do not begrudge him any recreation he is able to find. But consider the land, sea and air transport available to the White House. There are:

"The 10 helicopters.

"The President's private $8 million fan-jet Boeing 707-320 airplane.

"Three Boeing 707's assigned to the White House by the Air Force.

"One Air Force Douglas DC-6B for airports that can't take jets.

"A 21-foot Lincoln Continental automobile, and three other family cars, in addition to Secret Service vehicles, and the regular White House fleet.

"A special railroad car.

"Two yachts.

"Another yacht available from the Navy, and

"A racing yawl supplied through the Coast Guard."

Byrd, in a speech for his 41st annual Apple Orchard picnic, noted that a House subcommittee had approved the President's request for two new twin-jet helicopters costing $1,125,000 each.

"Maybe all of this is necessary," said Byrd. "But somehow or another it seems to me the President could set an example by getting along with a little less."

Landis Revealed Under Treatment

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge has imposed on James M. Landis a 30-day sentence on income tax charges and disclosed that the former Harvard Law School dean is under psychiatric care for a "habit" he found "difficult to control."

Landis, 63, adviser to three presidents, is a former chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission and Civil Aeronautics Board. He was brought into court Friday from the Neurological Institute of Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center.

Judge Sylvester J. Ryan referred during sentencing to Landis' treatment for a "habit" but did not elaborate.

July Traffic In State Killed 183

EAST LANSING (AP) — State police report that 183 persons were killed and 10,336 persons were injured in traffic accidents in Michigan during July.

The death toll was up 10 per cent and the injured up 11 per cent from July, 1962, police said. The death toll was the highest since 1941, when 195 were killed.

The department also reported there was a substantial reduction in enforcement activity during July, due to a Civil Service Commission order reducing the working week of state troopers.

Hillsdale Prof Is Nominee Of Drys

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A soft-spoken college professor, who has never held public office, is the first nominee of a recognized political party for election as president of the United States in 1964.

Ann Landers

Don't Pay Him

Dear Ann Landers: Help! Please! I need advice and fast. I went out with this boy whom I will call Robbie. He is very handsome and thoroughly spoiled because lots of girls have gone after him and he knows it.

On our second date he headed for the country, pulled the car over to the side of the road and said, "I'm bored. Let's neck."

I was very insulted and told him I wasn't the least bit interested in necking with him. He reached over and said, "Don't be so stuffy." Then he tried to pull me close. I warned him if he didn't start back home I would clobber him. He acted as if he didn't hear a word I said, then he lunged at me and tried to kiss me. I hauled off and gave him a good sock. Unfortunately I broke his glasses.

He got awfully sore and said I didn't come up with $20 by next week he was going to send my dad the bill. If he does I will just die.

Please tell me if you think I ought to take the money out of my savings account and pay for Robbie's glasses.—NO MAKE-OUT

Dear No Make-Out: You don't owe the character a dime. Here's a Dorothy Parkeresque couplet which you might suggest he paste in his handbag:

"Guys who make passes Should take off their glasses."

Dear Ann Landers: I was married at age 29, which is fairly late these days. At 31 I had my first child and at 34, my second. Both children are under four years of age. I returned to work last year because, frankly, the kids drove me nuts.

I must pay a housekeeper, send out all the laundry, pay taxes on my income and dress like a fashion-plate—so naturally my job doesn't leave me with much money left over. But I am not working for the money, I am working because I am happier working than staying home. I feel better when I get up in the morning, get dressed and go to the office.

My family has been pestering me to death. They say I'm not being fair to my children. They say I should quit work and stay home. Would I be fair to my children if I stayed home and let them make a nervous wreck out of me? A straightforward, level-headed, modern opinion is needed.—DEE EL

Dear Dee: My straightforward, level-headed, modern opinion is that mothers of pre-school children should be at home unless it is absolutely essential that they work—essential in financial terms, that is.

Your problem is quite different, however. You are running away from home because you don't want to be a mother. A woman who can't tolerate her children has real problems. I hope for the sake of your children, as well as for your own sake, you will get professional help.

Dear Ann Landers: I married a carefree, irresponsible man against the advice of everyone—including you. After two horrible months of battling I realized I should take off their glasses."

Dear Ann Landers: I was married at age 29, which is fairly late these days. At 31 I had my first child and at 34, my second. Both children are under four years of age. I returned to work last year because, frankly, the kids drove me nuts.

I must pay a housekeeper, send out all the laundry, pay taxes on my income and dress like a fashion-plate—so naturally my job doesn't leave me with much money had made a mistake. We separated to think things over.

Now I've decided we will never be able to get along, so I'm filing for a divorce next week. The question is this: Shall I keep the wedding gifts or shall I return them? Some of the gifts are still in the boxes. Please guide me.—BROKEN DREAMS

Dear Broken Dreams: The gifts belong to you. It is proper to return wedding gifts only when the wedding has been cancelled.

Confidential to IN LOVE WITH A NEUROTIC: Accept the situation and learn to live with it. Successful people must be driven or they wouldn't achieve anything. Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Donald Lee Nolt

Martha Sue Gruber Is Donald L. Nolt's Bride

On a honeymoon tour through Canada to Niagara Falls are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Nolt, who were married Saturday, Aug. 31, in a 2 p.m. ceremony at First Presbyterian Church in Petoskey performed by the Rev. William T. Lovick.

The bride was Martha Sue Gruber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Gruber of Lake Grove Road, Petoskey, formerly of Escanaba. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Nolt, Reamstown, Pa., are the bridegroom's parents.

The former Miss Gruber, who has been a member of the cast of Shipstads and Johnsons Ice Follies the past three years, had Mrs. John McCraig, nee Gayle Burns, who also was a member of the cast of the ice show, as her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. David William Gruber, Traverse City, a sister-in-law, and Georgi Coplan of Escanaba. Mr. Nolt's best man was Glen Wiest of Lancaster, Pa. Groomsmen were Leroy Martin of Lancaster, Pa., an uncle, and David William Gruber, and the guests were seated by Hiroshi Moriara of Dearborn, John McCraig, William Smith of Litzitz, Pa., and Dale Fryberger of Lancaster.

The midriff of the bride's gown of white damask brocade was sprinkled with pearls and the unpressed back pleats of the skirt extended into a chapel train which later formed a bustle. Her elbow length veil of tulle was caught to a crown of pearls and crystal beads. She carried white gladioli with ivy, centered with a cluster of pink and white rosebuds which she used for her going-away corsage.

Identical street length sheaths of coral satin were worn by the matron of honor and bridesmaids. The dresses were made with scoop necklines accented with attached back panels. They wore headpieces of coral tulle with a satin bow, and matching shoes, and they carried white gladioli with coral accents.

Mothers' Attire

The bride's mother, who is the former Grace Warrington of Escanaba, was attired in a dress of medium blue satin brocade with which she wore a small flower hat and matching accessories. Mrs. Nolt chose a rose colored crepe with lace top and matching accessories. Their corsages were pink and white rosebuds.

Pouring at the reception at Petoskey-Bay View Country Club were Mrs. Robert McKinlay, Lansing, cousin of the bride, Mrs. William Gruber of Milwaukee, an aunt, Mrs. A. C. Klein, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Karl Buettner, Petoskey. Serving the punch were Mrs. Donald Franks, the former Madelyn Jensen and Mrs. Wayne LaFave, who was Linda Johnson, Escanaba, Cinda Oja, Gladstone, and Bonnie Bone, Dearborn. Christina Buettner was in charge of the guest book and Karen Sue Buettner distributed the small rice packets to guests.

The newlyweds will live in Reamstown, Pa. The bride became associated with the Ice Follies following her graduation from Escanaba Area Senior High School in 1960. Mr. Nolt, a 1958 graduate of Ephrata, Pa., High School, also is a graduate of McCann School of Business in Reading, where he affiliated with Phi Theta Pi. At the present time he is playing engagements in Pennsylvania with a band of his own and after Sept. 9 he will be employed by Brownstown, Pa., National Bank.

Ann Landers

Careless Dresser

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is employed at a large industrial plant. He has a college degree, is brilliant in his work and has been invited to attend several executive meetings, so it is apparent the brass in the company values his judgment.

In the past three years he has been overlooked twice for promotion to an executive position. He could have handled either of these positions well and was disappointed when he was passed over.

I feel the reason he was passed over is because he is careless about his appearance. I must nag him to get his hair cut and his shoes shined. He wears sport shirts to the office — and it's a battle to get him to buy a new suit.

When I told him this he became annoyed and insisted that the business world of men is not a fashion show and ability is the only thing that counts. May we hear from you on this? — AT ODDS

Dear At: There are very few Albert Einsteins around whose brilliance makes them acceptable anywhere in a turtle-neck sweater. Appearance does count in business and the man who ignores this fact of life hurts himself.

If your husband wants to be an executive he'd better start to look like one.

Dear Ann Landers: Before my son left for the West Coast last January he told me he had fathered a child. The girl (I will call her Ruby) married another man five months before the child was born. Ruby confessed to this man that the child was not his.

I have never met the girl, nor have I seen the baby, but Ruby has sent my son pictures. The child is beautiful and looks so much like my own boy that I can hardly stand it.

I am not a close friend of hers and I had no idea she meant this to be a favor. My sister accompanied me at the piano and we usually get $50 for such a performance. Would it be right to send her a bill? — HIGH C

Dear C: It's too late, dear. Now is no time to let her know it was no "favor." The terms should have been settled before the wedding. A verbal thank you is not enough. If the girl accepted your services as a favor she should have sent you a gift. But, of course, you can't ask for that either.

Ann Arbor Girl Missing Since Washington March

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Jacqueline Wilson, Ann Arbor University High School honor student and daughter of a University of Michigan professor, went to Washington, D.C., this week and vanished among the throngs of freedom marchers, her father told police.

"Jackie's always been independent, but she's never done anything like this," Dr. Russell Wilson said Friday night from his home in suburban Dexter.

Wilson, a professor in the U-M School of Business Administration, said he hadn't seen or heard from his daughter since Tuesday when she and 43 other teenagers and adults left her aboard a chartered bus bound for the nation's capital.

Jackie made the trip as a member of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee. Other passengers on the bus included the Wilsons' family minister, the Rev. Theodore Halstead of the Methodist Church of Dexter, and one of Jackie's girl friends, Laurie Wender.

The smoke has cleared from the battleground of Escanaba's first professional boxing show in over 20 years today, but fight fans in the Upper Peninsula will be kicking it around forever . . . Pete Bosanic of Manistique, a legendary figure in Upper Peninsula amateur boxing circles after a brilliant eight year career among the simon-pures, is the new middleweight champion of Michigan.

Pete's crown is tipped at a top-sided angle because of some conspicuous knots on his brow, raised there by the thudding fists of Jim Davis of Detroit who bowed to the Manistique Mauler in the 10-rounder before a packed house at the new Escanaba Area Public High School gym . . . Davis carried a few scars back to Detroit, but none to compare with the wounds he inflicted on Bosanic.

It was a rugged battle from the first round and the fans got their money's worth . . . The supporting card was far above average . . . Except for one hitch, when a ring rope popped loose from a corner strap, the program was flawless . . . The crowd was good, the gate was good and members of the Michigan Boxing Board of Control, headed by inspector Mickey Miller, secretary Jackie Vaughn and commissioner Frank Rodman, were extremely pleased with the whole project.

Referee Johnny Webber of Detroit, who cast the dissenting vote for Davis in the split decision, had this to say after the bout: "I think that Bosanic is going to be a great professional boxer. The only thing he needs is experience, and Davis had too much of that for him tonight."

Richard Ludwig, Bosanic's manager, was not the happiest man in the gym Saturday night . . . He expressed concern for Bosanic immediately following the fight but after a slight patching job, both fighter and manager regained their composure.

"Pete had his first 10-round, home town jitters and he did not look like the fighter that he really is . . . He was too anxious and too careless . . . We made some bad mistakes in training and Pete paid for it in the ring," Ludwig stated after the fight.

In a telephone conversation Monday, Ludwig added: "We're going to sit back for a week and rest up, Pete is my one and only concern and every move we make will be with his best interests at heart. He's a member of our family here and I love him as though he were my own son."

Speaking from his home in downstate Leslie, Ludwig continued: "I've never been treated anywhere in my life as well as I was by the people in Escanaba and the Upper Peninsula. If the boxing show Saturday night was a success, it was only because of the tremendous cooperation and assistance we got from the people up there."

"I'm only sorry that Pete was not at his best. He was too eager to impress his friends. I left him alone in the gym too long in Detroit. He couldn't relax, didn't get his proper food and rest and had too many distractions that I could have avoided. It's too late now, but we should have set up a training camp in or near Escanaba and tapered him off properly."

Bosanic had nothing but praise for Davis' ability: "He's a great fighter and he fought a strong, smart fight. I wasn't right for the fight and couldn't get started. I know I've fought better in my past bouts, and I know I can do better in the future," Bosanic stated.

At the gym Saturday night and since, fans have asked this writer how he would have scored the fight . . . We gave the nod to Davis in our ringside notes . . . Pete showed us a world of courage, a heart like a lion, determination and desire . . . But whether the pressure was too much for Bosanic, with his fans expecting an easy victory, or whether he still lacks the necessary pro experience, he wasn't quite as good as his opponent in our book.

We have the greatest respect for the ability of the judges who scored the fight . . . They have been in the game for many, many years and have done an excellent job for the Golden Gloves program here . . . Their honesty is beyond question . . . They viewed the fight from the best possible positions in the house . . . And we know they voted it the way they saw it . . . But, as much as it hurt, our vote went with the referee's.

Mays Exhausted; Ordered To Rest

By The Associated Press

Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle, baseball's only $100,000-a-year players, added to their medical history Monday in an ironic double play.

Mays, the wide-ranging San Francisco center fielder, suffered a dizzy spell and was sent home from a doubleheader against Chicago about two hours before Mantle, hard-hitting New York Yankees center fielder, made his first start since June 5.

A year ago this month, Mays collapsed of nervous exhaustion before a game at Cincinnati while the Giants were battling for the National League pennant. This time, with the fading Giants at home, Mays dropped to one knee after fouling off a pitch with the bases loaded in the fourth inning of the opener against the Cubs.

Mays was taken to the clubhouse by Dr. E. C. Sailer, who said Mays should be back in action today.

"He just told me he was tired and felt weak," said Sailer. "He had no blurry vision or anything like that. I advised him to get some rest and prescribed a sedative."

Mays, hitting .301 with 32 homers and 88 runs batted in, said he had been tired since Friday but did not reveal the situation. Prior to missing the nightcap against the Cubs, he had played in all but one of the Giants' games.

Mays was out of action for several days after collapsing last year at Cincinnati. He underwent extensive hospital tests during the off-season but nothing wrong was found with his health.

Meanwhile, Mantle, working on a carefully designed timetable expected to get him in top shape by World Series time, opened at center field for the American League-leading Yankees in the second game of a doubleheader at Detroit.

Mantle, who had appeared in only 46 of the Yankees' 137 games, was making his first starting appearance since he broke his foot June 5 while crashing into a fence at Baltimore. Since then, Mantle has made 10 pinch hitting appearances, slugging two homers and collecting three walks. He made out five times.

Mantle hit into a double play as a pinch hitter in the opener against the Tigers, then walked and was thrown out on an attempted double steal his first time up in the nightcap. He later collected two singles.

Fight At High School Gym Draws 2,735 Fans

By RAY CRANDALL
(Press Sports Editor)

The Michigan middleweight championship crown rests on the battered brow of the Manistique Mauler today.

Pete Bosanic, 21 year old former Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves champion, won the crown with a controversial 10-round split decision victory over Jim Davis, 24, of Detroit.

The first professional boxing card in Escanaba in over two decades drew a paid attendance of 2,735 spectators at the brand new Escanaba Area Public High School gym. The gross gate was $7,136.

In a boxing career that began in the amateurs in 1956 and stretched through a six-month professional stint in which he won seven straight starts, Bosanic had never faced a fighter of Davis' stature. The Detroit scrapper, who had piled up 12 straight pro victories, carried an arsenal of ring weapons into the bout and used them all.

Both Eyes Out

He opened wounds over both of Bosanic's eyes and had him bleeding from the mouth in the late rounds. Davis showed all the

OUTDREW SAGINAW

The Michigan middleweight championship fight here Saturday night outdrew the Aug. 19 bout for the Michigan version of the world lightweight championship at Saginaw, a city of 98,000 population, between Kenny Lane and Paul Armstead. The fight in Saginaw drew 2,735. Add to the crowd here several hundred employees, officials and press people and the total attendance was well over the 3,000 mark.

Fast, Tough Fight

The fight was a war from the opening bell. Bosanic was warned twice for punching low and Davis drew a warning for hitting with his shoulder. Both fighters pitched bombs with Davis uncorking the best shots in most of the rounds.

Davis crowded Bosanic and stayed inside in the opening round, looking for a shot with his TNT-loaded right hand. But Bosanic bobbed under most of the punches and finished strong, whipping a damaging right to the head shortly before the bell.

Bosanic snapped a busy left to the face and worked a hard hook to the jaw in the early going in the second round. Davis scored with a good right and a left hook to the body late in the period.

Davis staged a tremendous flurry early in the third and raised a knot over Bosanic's left eye. A solid shot to the head opened a cut over the eye in the fourth as Bosanic faded. Davis had his best round in the fifth, scoring with hard body blows and pumping steadily to Bosanic's bleeding eye.

Bosanic rallied in the sixth and a late flurry drove Davis into his own corner. The powerful Manistique fighter, unable to connect with his head shots, concentrated on a barrage of blows to the body in an effort to slow Davis down.

But Davis stepped up his pace in the seventh and staggered Bosanic with a pin-point right to the jaw.

Merritt Scores TKO

Bosanic fought the eighth, ninth and 10th rounds on heart. He flurried time and again after Davis beat him to the first punch. He bored in with both hands and again slowed the Detroit boxer's pace. A looping right to the side of the head, fired from close quarters late in the 10th round, was one of Bosanic's most solid punches of the night.

While the decision was greeted with approval from Bosanic's fans, an unofficial poll of sports writers and announcers at ringside had Davis winning.

In the sixth-round semiwrap, Davey Merritt of Detroit scored a TKO in the fifth round over L. D. Ludy of Chicago at 135 pounds.

Three Milwaukee boxers bowed in preliminary bouts. Middleweight Al Millenheft lost to Al Witherspoon of Windsor, heavyweight Jim Christopher was beaten by Rufus Bressell of Lima, Ohio, and welterweight Jodie James was decisioned by Dick Compton of Pontiac.

Fans Come Alive In Tiger Stadium

DETROIT (AP) — Baseball wasn't dead in Detroit. All that was needed was some improvement by the Tigers plus a good visiting attraction.

The Tigers and New York Yankees drew 43,926 customers to their doubleheader Monday, about 10,000 more than had been expected before Detroit's hot August surge.

It was the largest, loudest crowd of the season at Tiger Stadium.

In weather much more appealing to ducks than to golfers, Gerry Harris and Mel Manske battled their way to the finals of the Highland Golf Club Championship.

Harris matched shots with Jerry Martin in his morning match, firing a 1 over par 66 to Martin's 69. Manske battled up hill as Jim Douglas shot a 1-under 35 on the out nine, but slipped to 3 over on the next seven holes. Manske was even par for the 16 holes. Both matches ended 3 and 2.

The championship match was rescheduled for 2:00 p.m. next Sunday.

Baseball's Magic Numbers Are Here

LOS ANGELES (AP)—This is the time of year when baseball—already up to its eyeballs in statistics—compounds its mathematical muddle by conferring "magic numbers" on first-place teams.

For the Los Angeles Dodgers, who lead the National League by a half-dozen games, the magic number is 20.

This means any combination of Dodger victories and St. Louis losses totaling 20 would eliminate the second-place Cardinals.

But the Dodgers did not have to wait until September to come by a magic number. They've had one all season. And, unlike the number contrived by the statisticians, this one never changes.

It's always 32.

Sandy Koufax wears it on his back.

Last year in mid-July Koufax developed a circulatory disorder in the tip of the first finger of his pitching hand. He made only a few brief appearances the rest of

Nurses Capture Softball Crown

Climaxing a tremendous uphill battle in the tough losers' bracket in the Girls Softball tournament over the Labor Day weekend, the Nurses ran out the string Sunday night at Memorial Field to defeat the Bankers twice for the championship.

A two-out, two-on blast by Sandy Valentine deep into center field off losing pitcher Carol Courneene settled the issue.

After losing the opening game of the tournament last week to the Astronauts, the Nurses came back to beat the Jugs, Crusaders and Astronauts for the right to go against the undefeated State Bank team in the finals.

With Wee Betty Torsen pitching all the way, they turned back the pre-tourney favorites 4-2 and 4-3.

State Bank broke a scoreless tie in the third inning as one of the two Nurses errors put a runner on. Carol Courneene drove her in with a single and Courneene scored on an infield out and a passed ball.

The Nurses tied it in the last of the fourth on hits by Judy Kuitches, Delores Sanchez and Finna Morris. The Bankers went ahead in the fifth when Carol Torres led off with a triple and scored on an infield out.

The Nurses bounced back in the last of the sixth when Ann Roman belted a leadoff homer. That set the stage for Sandy Valentine's game-winning shot.

For Torres, it was her first defeat after winning three in a row in the tournament. Parma Smith handled catching duties for the bankers.

No Holiday For Spartans

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State's football forces had no holiday Monday as they went through two practice sessions, a 90-minute morning workout and a two hour drill in the afternoon.

Much of the morning session was spent in setting up punt and field goal formations, one of the big weaknesses in MSU's 1962 season. The afternoon session marked the first time the squad donned pads for some rugged contact drills.

Escanaba, Gladstone Win Grid Openers

Eskymos 'Snatch' Win From Maroons With Alert Play

The Escanaba Eskymos were a band of opportunists Saturday as they opened their 1963 football campaign with a 21-6 triumph over the Menominee Maroons.

Coach Jerry Cvengros' gridders extended their winning streak over Menominee with a brand of heads-up ball that cost the Maroons dearly for every mistake they made.

Two of Escanaba's three touchdowns in the game came when Menominee had possession of the ball. Both times, Eskymo players snatched the pigskin from Maroons and rambled to paydirt.

Menominee had the edge in the statistical department. The Maroons had 12 first downs to 9 for Esky. They gained 171 yards rushing to 126 and completed four of eight passes for 45 yards against one of three for five.

Escanaba's all junior backfield had trouble jelling in the early stages of the game and the front wall needed halftime adjustment to hold the Maroon runners.

Esky Takes Command
But by midway in the second half the Eskymos had Menominee on the ropes and they began operating like smooth football machine in the late stages of the game.

The Eskymos broke into the scoring column in the first period. They received the kickoff, then punted from their 45.

On Menominee's first play from scrimmage, fullback Walt Callies took a handoff and headed for the line. He was met midway by Esky halfback Jim Clairmont who snatched the ball from his hands and raced 25 yards to score. Jim Hansen's placement made it 7-0.

Menominee's touchdown followed. The Maroons drove 61 yards in 15 plays with quarterback John LeBouton scoring from the seven on a keeper. A run for the point was short and Esky led 7-6.

Menominee threatened twice in the second period, reaching the Esky 11 before losing on downs and slamming to the 2-yard line as time ran out in the half.

The third period also was scoreless with the Eskymos penetrating to the Menominee 21 after a pass interception by Denny Reno.

Haack Grabs Ball
Menominee recovered a fumble on the Escanaba 40 and gambled on a fourth down play in which Gignac attempted a lateral to a trailing halfback who wasn't there. Bob Haack of the Eskymos was, however, and he pulled the ball in and raced 60 yards to paydirt. Hansen's kick put Esky ahead 14-6.

Menominee drove to the Escanaba 34 and lost possession on downs. Escanaba marched 66 yards in their best showing of the afternoon. Dave Boileau and Jim Clairmont juggled the ball in seven plays and Clairmont went the last 16. He jolted off fright tackle, cut sharply to his left to weave through the Maroon linebackers and was in the clear. Hansen had two attempts at the extra point and made the second to give Esky its 21-6 margin.

Escanaba enters the Great Lakes Conference race as defending champion Friday in a game at Ishpeming.

Clairmont was Escanaba's top ground gainer with 56 yards in seven trips. Chuck Brookes picked up 42 in nine. Gignac led both teams with 83 yards in 11 carries for Menominee.

Tigers Split With Yanks; Aguirre Wins, Lary Loses

By JERRY GREEN
DETROIT (AP)—After all these years of reigning as master of the New York Yankees and being matter of fact about it, Frank Lary has a confession.

Yes, he would rather beat the Yankees than any other team.

And so would Hank Aguirre. Aguirre did it and Lary didn't Monday as the Tigers divided a doubleheader with New York before 43,926, largest crowd of the year in Tiger Stadium.

Whitey Ford became the American League's 20-game winner in outdueling Lary in the opener for a 5-4 Yankee victory. Aguirre followed by picking up his 14th victory in a 2-1 decision over the runaway league leaders.

Through the years, Lary always parried questions about his novel ability to beat the perennial pennant winners.

Lary, battling back from the minors after a season and a half of shoulder trouble, had his first appearance of his comeback against the Yankees and he wanted to win badly.

"I'd like to have shown those guys we—all of us—can beat them. They run around beating everybody and it would have been good for us to win."

"As it is, they didn't exactly knock me around."

The loss sliced Lary's career mastery over the Yankees to 28-12, a 700 percentage.

Lary hadn't beaten the Yankees since April 13 last year when he was hurt in the Detroit opener. He hadn't faced them since June 24, 1962. But, he'll get another chance Saturday at New York.

Aguirre, a newcomer among the Yankee killers, recorded his eighth victory over New York, the sixth since he replaced Lary in the starting rotation early last season.

The lean left hander had a battle all the way, nursing his 2-1 lead from the third on. Twice Aguirre protected the slender margin after the Yankees put runners on second and third, once with none out and later with one out.

Aguirre had the added danger of Mickey Mantle's return to the Yankees' starting lineup for the first time since he broke his foot and tore a cartilage in his knee June 5. Mantle touched Aguirre for two of the Yankees' eight hits.

The split dropped the Tigers from fifth to sixth, one percentage point behind Boston.

Joe Pepitone delivered the blow that killed Lary. He smacked a three-run homer with two-out in the fifth, snapping a 2-2 tie.

Michigan Loses Veteran Lineman

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Veteran University of Michigan lineman Dick Szymanski of Toledo, Ohio, underwent an emergency appendectomy at the University Hospital Monday.

Szymanski, who lettered at guard the past two seasons, had been shifted to center because of his linebacking ability. He will be lost for at least three weeks, said trainer Jim Hunt.

Also missing the Labor Day drills were Capt. Joe O'Donnell, who has a bruised shoulder, sophomore halfback John Rowser, punched shoulder nerve, and sophomore tackle Bill Yearby, who reported with a slight temperature.

Left end Jim Conley returned to duty Monday after recovering from a wrist injury.

Quarterback Bob Timberlake's passing and running, and the receiving of right end Bill Lasky, and backs Jack Clancy and Glen Sygar, featured the day's scrimmage.

The Wolverines finished their double workout sessions and will start regular single drills with the opening of U-M classes today.

Hornung Tapes Packer Mates
GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Green Bay halfback Paul Hornung, suspended for betting on National Football League games, was back in the Packer camp Monday — recording interviews with his former teammates for a radio series.

Hornung carried a tape recorder as he walked into the Packer dormitory at nearby St. Norbert College.

Bumping into guard Jerry Kramer, Hornung said, "How about an interview," Kramer said he was ready.

Hornung explained the interviews were for a daily program that will be carried by a number of Midwestern stations. Turning to his condition, he said, "I weigh 220 now."

He sat high in the stands in a 50-yard line seat for the first half of the Packer exhibition with the New York Giants.

Former major league outfielder Al Zarilla is now a scout for the Cincinnati Reds in California.

Jaffe Keeps Tennis Crown

FLINT (AP)—Top-seeded Mark Jaffe of Bay City whipped Jerry Dubie of Hamtramck, 6-1 6-1, Monday to keep his Michigan open Tennis Tournament men's singles title.

The tournament was held on the clay courts at Kellar Park in Flint.

Jaffe teamed with Brian Eisner of Toledo, Ohio, to win the men's doubles crown by beating Nick Beresky and Dean Bailey of Toledo, 7-5, 6-3. Beresky and Bailey had dethroned defending doubles champion Bud Donnelly and Jack Vredevelt of Kalamazoo, 6-3 6-2, in the semifinals.

Bailey won another state title when he whipped Lansing's Fred Houser, 6-1, 6-3, for the senior men's crown.

Hamtramck captured all of the women's honors as Joyce Pniewski beat top-seeded Melody Kierlanus, also of Hamtramck, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1, in singles and teamed with another Hamtramck girl, Betty Bidler, to beat Melody and Detroit's Barbara Aaron, 6-2, 6-1, in doubles.

Field Goal After Game By Domres Defeats Vikings

GLADSTONE — Tom Domres, 220 pound senior fullback, split the posts with a field goal from the 19 yard line after time had run out here Saturday to give Coach Don Potenhauer's Gladstones a last-gasp 16-14 triumph over Norway in the season opener.

Trailing 14-13 as the final seconds ticked off the scoreboard clock, the Braves hustled the ball into field goal range to give Domres his shot at the uprights.

The ball was off at a sharp angle to the right, resting on the hashmarks with the line of scrimmage at the 12. Time ran out as the ball was snapped back to the 19 from where Domres smacked his right foot into the pigskin. The ball sailed end over end for 29 yards to top the crossbar and give Gladstone the victory.

Domres was a standout in three other phases of the game. As a fullback he rambled up the middle for 71 yards in 15 carries. He alternated on offense at a guard spot and was one of Gladstone's toughest defensive players.

Schram Gains 142
Dan Schram kicked up his heels for 142 yards in 18 carries to lead the Braves to 232 yards rushing. He and Jay Knutsen hit end Bob Randall with three of four aeriels for 34 yards. The Braves had 10 first downs to Norway's six and Schram averaged 39 yards with four punts.

Bruce Heslip and Emery Dault were Domres' chief aides on defense.

It was an uphill battle for the Braves all the way in the scoring department. They recovered an early Norway fumble and drove to the enemy 11 before fumbling back.

Ed Langin shook loose and raced 67 yards before Randall caught him from behind on the Gladstone 22. The Vikings drove over with Ernest Brumbaugh going the last four yards and kicking the extra point to make it 7-0.

The Braves came back with a touchdown in the second period, Schram capping a drive with a slant from the seven yard line. Domres plunged for the point and the score was 7-7 at the half.

Norway regained the lead in the third with Langin scoring again from inside the one yard line with Brumbaugh kicking the point.

With five minutes left, Schram clinched a 35 yard march by scoring from the five but Domres was short with his line back for the point.

Norway was forced to punt and the Braves took over with 2:55 left, driving to the Norway 10 before losing possession on downs. Norway ran off three plays and punted out of bounds on the Viking 40 with 59 seconds left.

The Braves took to the air and quickly moved to the Norway 15, then ran another play to get the ball centered in front of the goal posts. The play went too far, however, and wound up on the 14 on the other side of the field to set the stage for Domres' field goal attempt.

The Braves return to action with their first Great Lakes Conference start Saturday at Newberry. The game will be the season opener for Coach Art Allen's Indians.

Giants Collapse With Mays; Cubs Sweep Twin Bill

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Willie Mays is woozy, and the Giants are dead.

Both collapsed during a Labor Day doubleheader at San Francisco. Mays from exhaustion and the Giants from an overdose of Ron Santo's slugging and the pitching of Dick Ellsworth and Glen Hobbie.

Ellsworth became the first Chicago Cub pitcher since 1945 to post 20 victories by winning the opener 7-5 before Hobbie put the finishing touches on the doubleheader sweep and the Giants' pennant chances with a two-hit, 6-0 second game victory.

Santo, meanwhile, went 4-for-8 with seven runs batted in for the twin bill, hitting a grand slam homer and solo shot in the nightcap as the defending champion Giants fell 9½ games behind National League-leading Los Angeles.

The Dodgers remained six games in front of second-place St. Louis, whipping Houston 7-3, as Sandy Koufax won his 21st, and 7-1. The Cardinals kept pace by downing Pittsburgh 6-1 on 6-2d.

Milwaukee closed to within one-half game of the Giants despite a 9-4 loss to Philadelphia and Cincinnati gained a doubleheader split with New York, winning the nightcap 1-0 as Jim Maloney won his 20th with a three-hitter after the Mets took the opener 5-3.

Whitey Ford became the American League's first 20-game winner as the New York Yankees beat Detroit 5-4 before a 2-1 second game loss. Minnesota defeated Kansas City 6-2 and 3-1 and Boston took two from Baltimore 4-3 and 2-0. The Los Angeles Angels edged the Chicago White Sox 7-5 before dropping an 8-7 decision and Cleveland drubbed Washington 15-3, then lost 8-7.

Yesterday's Stars
BATTING — Ron Santo, Cubs, collected grand slam homer and bases-empty homer in 4-for-8 performance, driving in seven runs in 7-5 and 6-0 doubleheader sweep that dropped thirdplace San Francisco 9½ games behind National League-leading Los Angeles.

PITCHING — Jim Maloney, Reds, won 20th game with three-hit, 13-strikeout performance that shut out New York Mets 1-0 in second game of doubleheader. Mets won opener 5-3.

Yankees Tune-Up For Series With Stars In Action

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was only Labor Day, but it had all the looks of a World Series tune-up for the New York Yankees.

Whitey Ford went seven innings plus in posting his 20th victory and Mickey Mantle was back in the starting line-up.

It happened in Detroit Monday as the Yankees held onto their American League cushion of an even dozen games with a doubleheader split against the Tigers.

Ford became a 20-game winner for the second time in his 12-season career in the opener, taken by the Yanks 5-4. Mantle was a starter for the first time since June 5 in the second game, a 2-1 squeaker won by the Tigers behind left-hander Hank Aguirre's neat pitching.

J. C. Martin's two-run double in the last of the ninth inning gave Chicago's second-place White Sox an 8-7 decision over Los Angeles and a doubleheader split against the Angels. Los Angeles ripped out 15 hits in capturing the opener 7-5.

Minnesota put on another power show and climbed to within one-half game of the White Sox by knocking off Kansas City twice, 6-2 and 3-1. Boston dropped Baltimore in a pair, 4-3 as Bill Monbouquette won his 19th and 3-0 on the fivehit pitching of rookie Bob Hefner; Cleveland and Washington blasted 12 homers in a split, the Indians romping in the opener 15-3 and the Senators squeezing by in the second game 8-7.

Negro Coed Wed White Students

NEW YORK (AP)—Charlayne Hunter, first Negro girl to attend the University of Georgia, has disclosed she secretly married a white student at the university and they are expecting a child in December.

Her husband, Walter Stovall, 25, of Douglas, Ga., said his father, George, a chicken feed manufacturer, greeted news of the marriage with the comment, "This is the end of the world."

The couple announced their marriage Monday after Stovall's arrival here. He worked this summer as a reporter for the Atlanta Journal.

Mrs. Stovall, 21, said they were married last spring while both were attending the university. She graduated in June.

Stovall declined to give the exact time and place of the wedding but said it was in the North and they spent their honeymoon "on the turnpike."

He said his parents maintain contact with him but refuse to talk about his wife.

The couple kept the marriage secret because Stovall had to spend the summer in Atlanta and, according to his wife, they did not want to add difficulties for him.

She said her friends accepted the romance. But Stovall said his "weren't exactly comradely about it."

Her mother works in a real estate office in Atlanta. Her father, Lt. Col. C.S.H. Hunter Jr. of Tampa, Fla., is a retired Protestant Army chaplain.

Mrs. Stovall is an editorial assistant at the New Yorker magazine. Her husband has another year of college.

Yacht Taken In Tow On Michigan By Ore Carrier

FRANKFORT (AP)—Crew members of an iron ore freighter Monday rescued a Chicago couple whose yacht became disabled after hitting a rock in northern Lake Michigan.

The 28-foot yacht, the Bluebird, with her owners, Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Cohn aboard, was taken in tow near North Manitou Island by the freighter J. Clare Miller of the Gartland Steamship Company. The Miller's captain radioed the Coast Guard at Frankfort and a 40-foot utility boat was dispatched to intercept the two ships.

When the Coast Guard boat arrived, the freighter continued her run to the Indiana harbor. The yacht was towed to the Frankfort harbor. Damage included a bent screw and a jammed rudder, the Coast Guard said.

Airman Jerry L. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellery E. Enman of Grand Marais, is being re-assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., for technical training as an Air Force munitions specialist. He is a 1961 graduate of Burt Township High School.

Pope Works On View Of Science

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Word in Vatican circles that Pope Paul VI is working on his first encyclical brought speculation today that it may set the mood of his entire reign. This was the case in the first letter of Pope John XXIII in 1959.

The encyclical is said to be on the relationship between the Christian truths and the scientific intellectual concepts of modern culture. The encyclical—a letter to all Roman Catholic bishops—is not expected to be released before November or December.

Some here see special importance attached by the Vatican to the Pope's address last Sunday on the need of laymen to make Christianity vivid. They suggest that an encyclical on modern culture might focus the reign of Paul as one of dedication to Christian laymen.

Congress Has Big Work Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress lingers into the ninth month of its session today and most of the big battles still lie ahead.

Usually by Labor Day, Congress is breezing down the home stretch. This year it has a thicket of legislation to clear away.

Many members fear they'll still be around after the leaves fall and the snow flies and the Christmas decorations go up.

On the long, probably bumpy road ahead are such controversial issues as a tax cut, foreign aid spending, the limited nuclear test-ban treaty—and the civil rights program which promises to trigger a Southern filibuster in the Senate.

The House planned no business this week, continuing until Monday a sort of informal Labor Day recess.

To clear the deck for expected debate next week on the nuclear treaty, the Senate was scheduled to take up President Kennedy's request to broaden the 1962 Manpower Training Act which established a program of vocational schooling to teach skills to unemployed persons or retrain them for new jobs.

Former Queen Of Yugoslavia Takes Overdose Of Drugs

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Ex-Queen Alexandra of Yugoslavia regained consciousness today for the first time since she was hospitalized Sunday night with an overdose of sleeping pills.

A nurse said Alexandra's first conscious words were: "I am glad to be alive. I thank the doctors for what they have done."

Doctors reported considerable improvement in her condition but still expressed reserve over whether the 42-year-old cousin of Britain's Prince Philip would recover.

The wife of former King Peter II was brought to the hospital from the villa of her mother, Princess Aspasia of Greece. Police said she had taken 16 sleeping pills.

Peter, who arrived from Paris Monday, told newsmen he could not explain why Alexandra took the pills.

Alexandra and Peter were wed in London in 1944. Peter filed for divorce in 1953 but they were reconciled in 1955.

Prisoners Rebel In Georgia Pen

Fred Hallford, state prison director, described the disturbance as a "complete insurrection." The tear gas supplied by state troopers halted the uprising after two hours of turmoil.

Hallford reported that several guards were cut and bruised and that one guard suffered a heart attack during the outbreak.

Early today the force had swelled to 215 uniformed patrolmen plus local police help from several surrounding towns.

Wallace also ordered the Huntsville school board to delay start of school until Friday. One of its schools also was to have accepted Negroes today. The board voted to comply with the governor's order.
